AGTS LISTED AMONG "40 Best Christian Places to Work"

A survey sponsored by Christianity Today magazine lists the Assemblies of God Theological Seminary (AGTS) among the 40 best Christian places to work. The Best Christian Workplaces Institute administered the survey—the largest to date on the attitudes of employees at Christian organizations.

The results were published in an article in the April 2003 issue of Christianity Today, which listed AGTS in third place among small colleges, universities and seminaries.

The article explains, "Employees of participating workplaces filled out an online survey that covered various aspects of their companies' people practices; the organizations also provided detailed profiles of their human resource policies." An independent panel of judges considered the employee scores, employee participation rates and human resource profiles to select the winners.
