METHODOLOGY

This course will make use of lectures by the professor and discussion of pertinent material. Students will need to be prepared to take notes and enter into the discussion of ethical issues.

COURSE REQUIREMENTS

1. The student is expected to attend all class sessions. Absences should be for extreme circumstances only. Barring a serious medical emergency, credit cannot be granted for this course if a student has been absent from more than two class sessions. Exceeding the absence limits shall be regarded as an unofficial withdrawal and result in a grade of F.
2. There will be at least on chapel service during this course' meetings. The chapel will be announced in advance.
3. The student should complete the reading assignments as they are due (see the Course

- Outline above for the program).
4. When the professor begins to lecture on the specific ethical issues listed above in the Course Outline the student is responsible to be ready to discuss the ethical issue in the class session(s). The textbooks will be helpful in preparing the student for the discussion.
 5. Each student will prepare a major research paper (15-20 pages) on an ethical issue other than one of the ones considered in class. A list of suggested ethical issues will be distributed at the first class. The papers must conform to the guidelines of A Manual for Writers of Term Paper, Theses, and Dissertations (7th edition), by Kate L. Turabian, using footnotes for source documentation. The paper should 1) identify the issue carefully, 2) present the arguments relative to the issue, 3) examine the biblical materials which speak to the issue, 4) identify the ethical principles involved, and 5) present a decision as to the ethical response to the issue. The paper is due November 19, 2010.
 6. The student should successfully sustain a final exam, to be given on December 10, 2010. The exam will be essay in nature, giving the student the opportunity to respond to a case study on one of the ethical issues discussed in class.

ACADEMIC INTEGRITY

It is assumed that students at AGTS will endeavor to be honest and of high integrity in all matters pertaining to Seminary life. A lack of respect and integrity is evidenced by cheating, fabricating, plagiarizing, misusing facilities, removing books and other property not one's own, and disrupting classes.

Cheating is defined as "intentionally using or attempting to use unauthorized materials, information or study aids in any academic exercise." It is assumed that whatever is submitted by a student is the work of that student and is new work for that course. Fabrication is "intentional and unauthorized falsification or invention of any information or citation in an academic exercise or form." Plagiarism is "intentionally or knowingly representing the words or ideas of another as one's own in any academic exercise." One who facilitates any of the above is equally responsible with the primary violator.

Penalties may include restitution, an "F" on an individual paper, exam, or course; loss of campus employment; disciplinary probation; removal from extracurricular activities; and suspension.
